Hail Takes Toll Of Crops

Unusually heavy hail took its toll of many crops in the district over the past weekend. The storm of last Sunday took a swath through the Violet Grove and Campion Corner districts, continuing westward doing considerable damage to farms immediately south of Dayton Valley. On one of these farms, that of Albert Hodgson, Mr. Hodgson reports heavy damage well over 50% to the grain and hay crops and even heavier damage to their fine garden. The Hodgson farm is one and a half miles south of Dayton Valley. On the Violet Grove road, Treman's farm was hard-hit with hail again flattened out. Many other in the Violet Grove and Campion districts reported heavy damage.

The storm continued eastward and crossed the river to flatten crops and gardens in the Buck Creek and Bretton areas. Another storm also hit in the Tomahawk district. One farmer, Rusty Zander, of that district, reported that part of his crop had been almost totally hauled out as the narrow hail strip went through the district.

The summer has been unusually hot. Crops and gardens are generally very good, where no hail damage is reported, and it is expected that bumper crops will be recorded this year, with almost ideal growing conditions prevailing during most of the summer, after a late and slow start in the spring, lots of hot weather, broken by intermittent rain, brought crops along at a good pace, making up for their slow start. Haying conditions have not been too favorable in some areas, as rain the last couple of weeks has held up operations. On the whole, though, the agricultural picture looks quite bright in this area.

Evansburg Bridge Officially Opened

The bridge over the Pembina River near Evansburg was officially opened at 2:00 p.m., Wednesday, July 24th, by the Hon. Gordon Taylor, Minister of Highways, with many people, and civic organizations on hand to watch the ceremony. Many of the oldtimers of the district were present and were officially welcomed and introduced by Mrs. M. W. Wood in her address. Following is the program of the Official Opening Ceremony.

1:00 p.m. The bridge was closed to traffic, following which oldtimers approached from both sides of the bridge to the centre, led by oldtimers Miss Mary Smith on one side and Mr. S. Neighbour on the other, flanked by members of the Royal Canadian Legion, Legion Auxiliary Ladies, Members of the B.P.O. Elks and Members of the Royal Purple, decorated bicycles, pliers of the Elks, members of the Town Councils of Enfield and Evansburg, etc. Mr. L. H. McKelvie, P. Eng., Deputy Minister of Highways acted as Master of Ceremonies. This was followed by a short address by Mr. Emil Sanden, P. Eng., Chief Bridge Engineer. This was followed by greetings from the President of the Evansburg Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Len Cokery, by His Worship, Mr. Fielshuber, Mayor of Evansburg and His Worship Mr. Simon Field, Mayor of Enfield.

Mrs. Wood then gave a speech in which she recalled old times and introduced oldtimers. This was followed by short speeches by Mr. Nease Herman, representing the Oldtimers and Mr. Valerie Campbell, representing Youth.

The Berrymore Pentecostal Sunday School held their annual picnic one fine hot day recently. After the games, the races, the ball game, etc., cold watermelon was the order of the day. Here we see the group lined up in front of the ice cream stand to get their picture taken.

When Sam and Gus fed the kids' father's rabbit, here we see Roger Gamble feeding the tiny fawn at his father's Howard Gamble's place, just west of town, while Little Donna Lainsbury and Roger's brother Terry stand by to see the operation is carried out successfully. Howard Gamble found the tiny deer in the Cynthia area when it was just a few hours old. It had apparently been abandoned by its mother and would have not have been known to Howard brought it home. Here it was a neighborhood attraction until game keepers from A. Campbell's Alberta Game Farm came out to pick up the tiny animal and took it to the Game Farm, where it too, will doubtless be the centre of attraction, particularly for the thousands of youngsters who visit the farm each summer.

The old experienced speaker of "standing knee deep in clover" and here we see farmer Ronald Smith standing just that way in his fine stand of clover four miles west of town. Smith has three fields planted in Alsat clover and they all look fine. The heavy rain of Sunday and Monday afternoon have done some damage to the clover, knocking it down to some extent, but indications are that Mr. Smith will take off a good yield of seed.

R.C.M.P. COURT

In R.C.M.P. Magistrate's Court recently, since the last time of printing these reports, 28 persons have been fined on appearance before the Magistrate. Fines have ranged from $2.50 to $20 per driver.

In an Asahak case, one district man was charged with assaulting a female and received a ten dollar fine.

One local resident was charged with causing a disturbance at neighboring lodgepole by swearing on the street near a cafe and was given a fine of $10.

A local youth was fined a total of $64, on two charges of assault and one charge of being a minor on unoccupied premises at Lodgepole.

Four local residents were given fines of $20 and one charge of possession of liquor when they were found drunk in their car.

Recreation Roundup

RECREATION ROUNDUP.
BY: Mike Connelly.

The Drayton Valley Fall Fair is shaping up nicely. The Fair Board, under the talented hand of Chairman Dunc. Lehto, is holding a weekly meeting in the Recreation Office, Monday evening at 7:30 is meeting time and to date the attendance has been very satisfactory considering that this is holiday time with its many attractions. Dots Kerry is publicity chairman for the board and is doing a great job of bringing the event before the public. The main item discussed at a long Monday night meeting was the Fair program. It was all but completed with only a few minor changes, additions or deletions to be made and next Monday's meeting should bring about the finalization of the entire program of procedure. The Fair will cover many phases of community life and should be a great success. One of the various attractions of the Fair will be the Truck and Field events sponsored by the Drayton Valley Athletic Association. The T & F program is under the direction of Bob Baker. To date, entries under these events have not been exactly copious, however I think we have enough entries on the list now to set definite plans for the event.

We plan to start preliminary work on that week. Any more miles or half miles in town? Long distance runners seem to be scarce as in town's other sports activities around. Fair time will include a Coffee Baseball Tournament, Gymkhana

The Chapel Hour

The inscription of the above picture, though indistinct, reads, "First Baptist Church in Britain founded by Joseph of Arimathea, A.D. 314 at Glastonbury."

Jesus Christ Himself organized the first Christian Church and His disciples were the first members, according to the Bible. As a result of the persecution that arose, hundreds of years before any other Christian organization was formed, Joseph of Arimathea, with other disciples or his Lord at Glastonbury, only a few years after the Crucifixion.

Missionaries from Rome admitted finding a young Christian Church in the British Isles when they came there in 597 A.D. The story by William Blake, entitled "Jerusalem" is based upon this tradition.

"And did those feet in ancient time, Walk upon England's mountains green? And was the Holy Lamb of God, On England's pleasant pastures seen?"

In writing his book, "St. Joseph of Arimathea at Glastonbury" the author, The Rev. Lionel Smith-Barrow, M.A., has in his foreword:

"Britain is proverbially rich in monuments of the past, but of all its interesting places with curious and visible links with antiquity the little in visible evidence, wrought in memory, of generations long departed, but steeped in fascinating legend and tradition."

One of the most widespread of these ancient stories is that of the coming of the figure of St. Joseph of Arimathea. It is said that he came to Britain as a metal merchant seeking tin, and that on this journey he was accompanied by none other than the boy Jesus. This rather startling story is paralleled by a number of similar traditional stories to tell until recent times in various parts of the West Country.

According to another and later tradition, this same Glastonbury is the very cradle of English Christianity, where an infant church was planted by those who personally knew our Lord.

For over twenty years the Author was Vicar of Glastonbury, and devoted much of his spare time to studying these ancient stories. Becoming convinced that the cumulative evidence was so strong to ignore, in this interesting book he presents the findings of many years of ardent research.

EXCERPTS FROM THE BOOK FOLLOW: "It is certain that Britain received the faith in the first age from the first seven of the Word. Of all the churches whose origin I have investigated in Britain, the church of Glastonbury is the most ancient" wrote Sir Henry Spelman in his "Constitution" and again he wrote in the same book: "We have abundant evidence that this Britain of our received faith, and from the disciples of Christ Himself, soon after the Crucifixion of Christ."

Reverend Father, the Jews, in his "Three Conventions of England" admits that "The Christian religion began in Britain within fifty years of Christ's ascension." His co-religionist, the very learned Alfred, in his "Anglo-Saxon" says: "It is perfectly clear that, before St. Paul had come to Rome, Arimathea was about in Britain."

"Britain," wrote the erudite Polydore Vergil, "partly through Joseph of Arimathea, partly through Paganus and Dominians, was of all Kingdoms the first that received the gospel." Polydore Vergil had special access to sources of the Glastonbury story. He was President of the House of Commons, and Archbishop of Wells, six miles from Glastonbury.

The Venerable Bede, writing about A.D. 740 says: "The Britons received the faith which they had received under King Lucius unconquered and continued in peace and tranquility unto the time of the Emperor Diocletian."

In these and other references it will be noticed that two distinct events are spoken of: (1) The foundation of the Church in Britain by the disciples of Christ, and (2) The acceptance of Christianity by the British Nation under Good King Lucius about A.D. 170.

It is not too much to say that the site of St. Mary's Church in the Abbey grounds of Glastonbury is the site of the first known above-ground church in the world. The present ruined Norman church stands on the site of an ancient British wattle church which all tradition and history say was built by the Disciples of Christ. There was probably no other above-ground church in Rome than the Titulus in the time of Constantine the Great, when the Emperor followed him in becoming Christian about A.D. 313.

SWIMMING POOL

By Mike Gormley.

D.V. POOL. A POPULAR PLACE.

The slogan, "Keep pool in our pool", has been put into aggressive action by the people of Drayton Valley and district. It would seem at times that the slogan should be reversed to read: "Keep away from the pool in our warm pool", judging from the booming business even during periods of unfavorable weather. In the past two months swimming has become Drayton's no. 1 recreational activity for young and old, for big and small.

At of Sunday night, July 21, when the fifty days season ran-tion completed, a grand total of 21,405 swimmers had passed through the doors of the local pool office. This makes for an outstanding daily average of 428 persons. The high success for one day was on July 9 when a booming 801 swimmers were admitted to the pool. The low mark for one day this far this season was 35. Oddly enough this was on Saturday, June 29.

"Discovery Day" has been the thrilling climax and the shivering October blast. This was one of the days when it was wonderful to be in the warmth of the 78 degree water, but it took a brave soul to climb back to the chilled surroundings.

Other than this our daily attendance was under the canopy of the sun. The current swimmer only once, when 58 percent swam in one day. Over all the attendance has been phenomenal, considering the occasional unseasonable temperature and the frequent inclement weather.

In the realm of Red Cross swimming instruction, as of July 18, a total of 378 persons were learning to swim in the local program. Of this number 298 were beginners. 120 were Junior and 10 were at the Intermediate level. Over 90 and above these regular swimmer 50 boys, representing Cub and Scout groups, from the surrounding district were taking instruction at the various levels. With another good group enrolled for the August classes, the total taking swimming instruction during the season will be close to the 550 mark. As-other pretty impressive figure.

At this time our instruction staff should not need any introduction, they are John Penikese, Pentina Russo, Paul MacLennan, and Barbara Haller. To date John has been teaching 125 persons, Pentina has 120 in her class, Paul has given instruction to a class of seven children. Instruction for the different Scout groups has been handled by Mr.
Penikese, Miss Russo and Mr.
MacLennan.

As you can readily see, business has been booming in the aquatic sphere in this community so far this season. With the current season at about the halfway point.

The United States Wheat Referendum

The failure of the referendum on wheat production controls in the United States has resulted in consternation and so far confusion in many places.

While the present situation is unsettling to say the least, and there is little indication as to what the final outcome might be, extreme pessimism is not warranted at this stage.

The United States government has sought, since 1959, to balance the supply and demand for wheat while maintaining farm incomes. The principal objectives have been, (1) to reduce wheat acreage and (2) to increase exports.

The program has fallen far short of complete success. During the last twenty years wheat acreage harvested in the United States varied between 44 to 76 million acres, and the drive to increase exports has been costly. In 1954-55, 158 million bushels of wheat exports, valued at $1.2 billion, were shipped.

Since 1959, however, there has been a differential of from 40 to 70 cent a bushel between the domestic and export price of wheat has been paid on commercial sales for wheat by the government. All exports are subsidized.

Notwithstanding these efforts to reduce surplus wheat stocks of 1.4 billion bushels, the government is estimated for the end of the current crop year. Storage costs continue to accumulate.

The food and agriculture act of 1959 is considered to be permanent legislation. It contains a variety of policies that have been in effect since the 1920's. Effective in 1964, farmers are offered the choice of two programs. One provides price support of about $3 a bushel average for most of the wheat acreage and payments for reduced wheat acreage in return for acceptance of acreage allotment. The second program involves non-compulsory acreage allotments with no price support to growers who exceed their allotments. Also, price supports to those who remain within their allotments would be about $1.20 a bushel.

The Secretary of Agriculture is directed under the act to estimate wheat requirements for domestic use and export. He must then announce a national marketing quota (not less than 10 billion bushels) and an acreage allotment for each state. The Secretary is recommended to then refer the quota and acreage allotment to the growers who vote an acceptance of the program. A two-thirds majority are required to carry. Should the referendum fail, plan two comes into effect.

On May 21, 1963, the growers voted against acreage limitations and high price supports. In effect, they favored voluntary acreage allotments and low price supports. However, a paradox is evident. While the growers voted for plan two, they did so believing that the administration did not allow the program to go into effect. Farm Bureau spokesmen who led that attack, against the Freeman program, argued that Congress was of political program.

wheat legislation on this summer. But there is talk of repealing acreage allotment and marketing quota legislation and substituting voluntary wheat and feed grain acreage programs. The possible effects of cheap wheat on farm income and its ramifications throughout the whole economy will probably exert the strongest pull for action.

As long as present legislation remains in effect, the Secretary of Agriculture must keep Congress out of political necessity would enact other less restrictive legislation.

Reports from Washington indicate that the administration will not initiate substantial changes in national marketing quota and acreage allotment before April 15 in any year if he finds surplus of wheat excessive with a repeat of the referendum within 60 days.

If no new legislation is introduced it would appear safe to assume that the United States has reached a turn in the road for wheat controls were rejected by Congress last year; now wheat farmers have turned down controls.

Wheat producers in Canada will appreciate the announcement of President Kennedy in which he stated that the United States will not dump cheap wheat on world markets. At the present time, however, low domestic prices for wheat are indicated. More wheat used for feed will reduce the demand for other feed-stuffs. Egg production, in the acreage share of winter wheat will increase winter pastureage, slow the movement of calves to marketing pattern and brighten of fed cattle. Total chain reactions of this sort may result in a marked realignment of American agriculture in Canada.

mark, I would say that the pattern is well set for 1962. There will be little or no change in the average daily attendance between now and closing time, which will be around mid-September. This means that we will easily reach the estimated 40,000 swimmers before the closing date rolls around. To date our pool has been open for this reason it was built, let us use it all the more.

Two cows were grazing alongside a highway when a tank-truck of milk on its way to the distributor happened to pass by. On one side of the truck in big letters was a sign which read, "Pasteurized, homogenized, standardized, Vitamin A added." One cow turned to the other and remarked, "Makes you feel sort of inadequate, doesn't it?"

A short address by Mr. Taylor was followed by his official act of cutting the ribbon, after which cars proceeded across the bridge in both ways. The bridge cost approximately one million six hundred-eighty five thousand dollars to construct. In the early days the pioneers forded the river, forty years later, the modern structure, designed with at least a hundred years life, which is the present bridge.

Following is the address given by Mr. Connelley Wood at the opening of the bridge.

ADDRESS AT OPENING OF PEMBINA BRIDGE, JULY 24, 1967

It is very gratifying to see so many people here on this occasion of the Official Opening of the Pembina River Bridge on Highway 16. I welcome this opportunity of expressing my pleasure in being present and sharing with you the joy that it is ours on the completion of this new 1000-LEVEE bridge across the beautiful Pembina River Valley joining the TWIN CITIES IN THE MANITOBA DELTA, on the East side and Evansburg on the West side.

It is a grand view from here as we look out to the North and across the Can. National Railway bridge, and down in the Valley the old Narrows bridge, and winding road up the steep banks of the river, and out over the Provincial Park.

To the south we see the silver stream of water winding through the trees, giving us a glimpse of the heavily wooded area that existed some sixty years ago, throughout this whole district.

Down through the ages of history, we find that roads, highways and bridges have changed as the living habits of population changed. From Indian footpaths to clear trails with country over the swampy areas used by the white settlers, and then surveyed roads as the population increased

From Fords on the streams to ferries, and to suspension bridges and to strong piers and high-level bridges, such as we have here now and of which we are so proud. This is a brief picture of the changes that have taken place as the demands were made.

In this area west of Edmonton history shows that there were first Indian Trails following the higher ridges of land. This gave way to wagon trails with some carriages over the swampy areas.

Boxing is very quiet this summer. The Pembina Club closed down in May and will re-open in September. Never forget, we have an Olympic prospect in Devin Combs.

Swimming is this community's No. 1 recreational activity this summer. The local pool is accommodating more than ten thousand swimmers per month, which is a pretty respectable figure. The Rotary Wading Pool is a favorite meeting place for small fry every afternoon from one to six.

The Lions Park has met a great need and is a busy spot. Children from the Southeast side of town pass away many hours in this little park.

The D.V. Recreation Centre is not used as much as it might be, however. It housed its share of the "Discovery Day" festivities, occasional dancing, professional wrestling and it has a prime place in D.V. Fair plans.

A great deal of horsehoes has been played around these parts this season and with the new pool course available many people have been making good use of it. All in all things are pretty good here in Drayton Valley. The Recreation program seems to be reaching more people in one way or another, which is the way it should be.

When our relatives, the George Wilkies, from Peterborough, Ontario, visited us last week we took them on a tour of our town. They admired our churches, schools, attractive homes and business stores. But what impressed them most, apparently, was the new sign which hangs at the entrances of town and says:

DR. HIGHLIGHTS CONT. From page 11, Col. 1

Mr. and Mrs. John Law have visited the farm known as the "Cambridge Place" from Mrs. Floyd Pech. The farm is situated on the Pembina River and should be an ideal place for the home raising project that John Law is carrying on.

Mr. and Mrs. David Elzay and family are holidaying at Ponchatouca.

Have you noticed the improved appearance of the P.N.A. office with its new coat of paint and bright flower beds the building now presents a most attractive appearance. Hope you are planning to visit some of these flowers in the W.I. flower show on August 21st.

August is the month selected by the P.N.A. for a visit to Drayton Valley. It is hoped that so many people as possible will take this opportunity for the very important visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyn Kozak had a drive from Winnipeg visiting their last week.

OPINION OF PEMBINA HIDERS.

River a number of men made and named Pembina after one of the train engineers who had been stranded just east of this bridge. Pembina was known as just north of him.

Highway 10 goes through Mr. Hinkley's farm. Pembina is located on the south land. Pembina was incorporated as a town in May 1909.

A daughter of Mr. Hinkley, Mr. Mrs. Al Brown still lives in Drayton and her son Mr. Tom Hinkley is one of the councillors of the P.N.A. and has been most helpful in arranging things for this successful occasion.

Mr. R. Greville came to this area in 1907 and his experiences have been varied and interesting. He still lives in the area. It is in business and his wife and sons of his family live here. I wish to introduce them now.

One of the old timers with us from that side of the river is Miss Mary Smith who came with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Wm. G. Smith in those early days. We met Mrs. Smith now as she has been from our early model.

In 1908 Mr. Jack Reed came to Pembina and has been active in all community activities. We expect that he is unable to be in with us today. He is in hospital but his brother Tom Reed and his son Jack are with us and are happy to greet them and their families.

After being incorporated as a town, Pembina had a very successful Agricultural Fair for many years, beginning in 1910.

A town, Quarry did a driving business, located near the east entrance of this bridge. The Quairds saw Mill located to the west, east entrance of this bridge, provided work for a number of people. So we find Pembina by 1913 and 14 the booming town west of Stony Plain.

Besides these we have mentioned we have a number of other people who have lived in Pembina and taken part in building it. Would they please stand at the new town?

Mr. Hansen, and on Norman and family. Mrs. and Mr. Verry (Hett) and family. Mrs. Jacobson and wife and family. Mr. T.C. McKillop and out of his family living here.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Anderson who recently celebrated their 60th Anniversary. Any of their family here? Mr. Hilday and any of her family.

The railway Trestle Bridge across the Pembina River made it possible for pioneers to go further west. In 1909 the first bridge was finished and there are plans at that end of it. When completed trains were soon going over it to the west.

A ferry was located where the old bridge stands and in the early 1920's that bridge was built and was a welcome improvement for by this time Pembina was a thriving community.

The Duke of Sutherland and other of the Western Canada Land Co. near the potential coal deposits in the Pembina area and they owned and operated it. It was located across the Pembina River but in 1912 another shaft was set near what is now the village of Evansburg where the mound of tailings still exists. Much coal was found but it was abandoned and the machinery was moved to Trans-Alberta.

Many people lived in Pembina and worked in the coal mines. The railway trestle was damaged and in 1909 it was replaced. There are a number of people who lived in Pembina and took part in building it. Would they please stand at the new town?

Evansburg was named after W. M. Evans, a prominent local citizen. Evansburg was named after W. M. Evans, a prominent local citizen. Evansburg was named after W. M. Evans, a prominent local citizen.

At the coal mine developed, before the days of the Trestle, the road and the railroad there came a man and his son, Mr. Steve Manspach and his son Tom from the Carvel area to look from horse-drawn. They found the Pembina and took horse-drawn west of the Pembina River. This was in 1908 and Mr. Tom Manspach was in 1910. He and his wife, Mrs. Margaret Susan were married west of the Pembina. It was Feb. 27, 1914. Mrs. Manspach is here too and they celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary this year. Will Mr. and Mrs. Tom Manspach and family stand.

Tom's brother William and his wife are here also. Wm. came with his father and brother in those early days.

In 1908 Mr. John McDermid arrived west of the Pembina River and homesteaded. We are happy to have him in this today. Also his brother Colin.

Then there is Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hildebrand, he came in 1907. We have heard from him but would he and his family stand.

Another plan of 1910 is Mr. Coy Lamontagne and same year Mr. A. Sappala came to the area. Would they please stand.

In 1911 Mr. John Bjornstad, a Norwegian, came to the area. Would they please stand.

In 1912 Mr. and Mrs. Young and Mr. and Mrs. H. Greville came to the area. Would they please stand.

Evansburg became a thriving bustling mining town and my first recollection of Evansburg was when I visited there to witness a baseball game between the Pembina and the Stony Plain team. We made that trip several times each summer for two or three years. It brings memories for me to have a ball game on this occasion.

Today with thousands of cars, trucks of various kinds and weights, heavy machinery and equipment using our roads, a change has been necessary to meet this situation.

So instead of the old winding tracks we now have a fine hard surfaced highway and the 4-lane (high level) bridge to accommodate all types of road traffic.

All the people who want to travel to the east or west welcome it and it is a capital improvement by all the people of this area. We look forward to some further changes to better approach a and widen some sections of the highway not done to date. I wish to take in due course to keep up the standard of this city. With Gov. over the past years.

I wish to congratulate and commend all who have been instrumental in arranging this community today. It has been a great cooperative effort and it is much appreciated.

On behalf of everyone here, I want to thank the P.N.A., Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Chisholm and all the organizers and workers who have made this new bridge possible.

I trust it will bring our "Twin Cities" in the "Midwest" closer together in the future as well as in communication.

Harold Hamerlin was born in Kunderdy, Sask., of German parentage. His father ran a garage in that central Saskatchewan town. He worked with his father in the garage business until he joined the airforce in the early days of the war. Receiving a medical discharge, Harold went to Soreling, Sask. where he operated a general store in 1943. Moving from Soreling to Lacombe, Sask. in 1946 he operated a store in that town until 1961 at which time he went to Lethbridge and went into the meat business. However, he did not care for that particular business and sold out in about eighteen months. For the next few months he was engaged in finding a suitable business and about three months ago, settled on Drayton Valley, where he eventually bought out Mr. Williamson's Triple S, Variety Store, which he is now operating.

He married the former Miss Winnie Adams, of Alaska, who, previous to her marriage was teaching school in that town. Mr. and Mrs. Hamerlin have five children, four boys, Dean, 15; Glen, 13; Brent, 8 and Hal S. They have one daughter, Margaret, 2 years old.

Harold is a member of the Royal Canadian Legion. Since demobilizing to Drayton Valley he has joined the Chamber of Commerce. He is a member of the Roman Catholic Church; his wife is a member of the Anglican Church.

Harold and Arnos went down to pick up the young birds when they were first hatched, on June 10. They brought back 250 of the pheasants with them and then a pen was built out on McEl's farm west of Drayton Valley where the birds were kept until they were turned loose. It about four months of age, which will be just before the opening of the hunting season this fall.

Loss of work has been put into the project by members of the Pembina Oilfield Fish and Game Association. Nick Trethorn is looking after the birds, with lots of help from members of the Association. Volunteer labor built the pens and prepared various other phases of the project. It has been pointed out that by the time the birds are turned loose they will have cost each about $1.50, which will include the original purchase price, feeding for disease, loss of feeding, feeding, etc. The only source of revenue the Association has is through memberships, which is a very narrow basis for the project. The Association has a list of members, which is a very narrow basis for the project. The Association has a list of members, which is a very narrow basis for the project.

Harold and Arnos went down to pick up the young birds when they were first hatched, on June 10.
